

PALOMA DALBON DE AGUIRRE

I've been studying illustration for ten years now, as the interest for the area came early in my life. I've graduated in Advertising and Marketing and, later, with the purpose of achieving my dream of working with books, I've also graduated in Graphic Design. I already have participated as illustrator and editorial designer in several children's and non-children's publications, and always try to learn from each work I do, evolving with the books I make and improving my drawings.
